

Final Project Final MAP Draft

Possible Title: Early 20th Century American published Chinese cookbooks

Context, Users and Content:

Content:

This collection will primarily consist of digitized pages of Chinese cuisine cookbooks published within the U.S. during the early 20th century (1900-1950). It will contain several pages from 4-5 cookbooks. The focus of the pages (items) scanned will be regarding the language and illustrations within them.

Context:

The institutional context for the creation of this collection is to create a digital collection for my digital libraries project through Collection Builder. The intellectual and social context for the focus of this time period is because of the negative perceptions of Chinese immigrants which was prevalent within the U.S.. Contextual evidence of anti Chinese immigrant sentiments was the Chinese Exclusion Act in 1882 , along with the Immigration Act of 1924 which prevented any further immigration from Asia during the early 20th century. Due to these reasons, the unique existence of Chinese cuisine and recipes displays a unique lens of perceptions related to the American Chinese immigrants.

This collection will be an exploration of the perceptions and representations of the Chinese within the U.S. using Chinese cuisine cookbooks with the illustrations and languages used within them.

Users:

Users that will utilize this collection can be for the general public whilst also being beneficial to researchers that wish to find some primary sources to springboard their projects on the history of Chinese American and their impacts within the U.S.

Functional Requirements

Users should be able to search and browse by creators, date published , title and language. Additionally, required fields of CollectionBuilderGH should be applicable and rights statements if required.
